Announcing Violins of Hope (Image)

Facebook:

Violins of Hope is coming to the Mid-Atlantic Region for the first time this August 4-October 24! Learn the remarkable stories of those silenced during the Holocaust through this powerful exhibit and these restored violins at the Virginia Holocaust Museum, The Virginia Museum of History & Culture and the Black History Museum. In the Featured Concerts on September 9th at Cathedral of the Sacred Heart and on September 10th at St. Mary's Catholic Church, members of the Richmond Symphony will play some of the violins and bring their stories to life. Learn more about the exhibit and community events: www.violinsofhoperva.com #ViolinsofHopeRVA

Violins of Hope, an exhibit that tells the extraordinary stories of violins played by Jewish musicians during one of history's darkest times – the Holocaust – will be at three museums in Richmond to educate and inspire for 12 weeks from August 4-October 24. Learn more: www.violinsofhoperva.com #ViolinsofHopeRVA

Violins of Hope shows the strength of the human spirit and the true power of music through an inspiring collection of restored violins from the Holocaust. These inspirational stringed instruments share stories of redemption, resilience, and the legacy of Jewish musicians. Be a part of this community collaboration and visit the exhibit in Richmond from August 4-October 24. www.violinsofhoperva.com #ViolinsofHopeRVA

During the Holocaust, the violin assumed extraordinary roles within the Jewish community and represented strength and optimism for the future. In “Violins of Hope: Violins of the Holocaust -- Instruments of Hope and Liberation in Mankind's Darkest Hour,” author James Grymes tells the story of how music can help lead the way through darkness and despair with hope and resilience. See, hear and learn about the Violins of Hope in Richmond:

Violins of Hope - Amnon Weinstein \(Image\)

Facebook:

Amnon Weinstein has spent the last two decades locating and restoring violins that were played by Jewish musicians during the Holocaust. He calls these instruments Violins of Hope. See, hear and learn about the Violins of Hope in Richmond this August 4-October 24.

www.violinsofhoperva.com #ViolinsofHopeRVA

Amnon Weinstein has dedicated his work to his 400 relatives who died during the Holocaust. Although most of the musicians who originally played the instruments were silenced by the Holocaust, their voices and spirits live on through the violins that Amnon has lovingly restored. He shares the untold stories of struggle, survival, and inspiration through Violins of Hope.

www.violinsofhoperva.com #ViolinsofHopeRVA

After growing up to become one of the most respected violin makers in the world, Amnon Weinstein became determined to reclaim his lost heritage. He created Violins of Hope to celebrate the triumph of the human spirit by repairing and retelling the stories of violins that have survived concentration camps, ghettos, and long journeys. www.violinsofhoperva.com #ViolinsofHopeRVA
